HIGHWAYS 15 AND 57 WELL PATRONIZED

DE PERE—Motorists will find the main highways around De Pere composed of gravel or concrete foundation in fair shape for travel and will encounter no impassable drifts, but they are given fair warning that it is not safe to venture on the side roads. Many who have tried it can testify to the statement that the venture should not be made unless you carry chains and a spade.

Highway 15 is open through to the south; highway 57 can be traveled to Greenleaf if one takes the old road after leaving the concrete; motorists have made trips to the reservation, the Blake road with the new concrete is open for travel; and the Dickinson road can be negotiated. A few sunshiny days it is said, will put the roads in fine shape.

The heaviest travel on the highways this season was visible yesterday and all afternoon a crowd of motorists used highway 15 and 57 to try out their cars. Gasoline stations did the biggest business in months.

RAIN HELPS FILL DE PERE CISTERNS

DE PERE—You may have a love for ragtime; you may like grand opera more; you may choose perhaps the strains of "Sweet By and By," but there's nothing quite so thrilling or so pleasing to the ear, as the rain drops pitter-patter in a cistern almost dry.

No attempt will be made to blame the above quotation on Shakespeare or Longfellow, but it just explains the delightful emotion experienced by many of the De Pere residents this morning, when they awoke to find the substance composed of slightly condensed atmosphere rapidly melting and pouring into their cisterns. The sight of snow on the ground was not at all a welcome view, but the manner in which it made its quick getaway proved conclusively that spring is here. More rain would be accepted
